Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
  - I. Claims 1-18, drawn to an apparatus for adhering a plurality of wood pieces into a continuous wood panel , classified in class 156, subclass 538.
  - II. Claims 19-23, drawn to a rotary transfer mechanism, classified in class 269.
  - III. Claims 24-26, drawn to a press apparatus, classified in class 101.
  - IV. Claims 27-35, drawn to a method for adhering wood pieces into a continuous panel, classified in class 156, subclass 304.1.

2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the subcombination requires the rotary transfer mechanism requires a drive mechanism operably connected to a rotatable shaft. The subcombination has separate utility such as use in an apparatus other than a bonding apparatus or for transferring objects other than pieces of wood.

Inventions I and III are related as combination and subcombination. Inventions in this relationship are distinct if it can be shown that (1) the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed for patentability, and (2) that the subcombination has utility by itself or in other combinations (MPEP § 806.05(c)). In the instant case, the combination as claimed does not require the particulars of the subcombination as claimed because the subcombination requires a lower platen and requires the clamping bars to engage the wood pieces while the upper platen presses the batch of wood pieces against the lower platen. The subcombination has separate utility such as use in an apparatus other than a bonding apparatus or for pressing objects other than pieces of wood.

Inventions II and III are related as subcombinations disclosed as usable together in a single combination. The subcombinations are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. In the instant case, invention II has separate utility such as use for transferring objects to other stations other than a pressing station and invention III has separate utility such as pressing objects not delivered by a rotary transfer device. See MPEP § 806.05(d).

Inventions IV and I, II, and III are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process such as bonding together, transferring, or pressing substrates other than wood panels, such as plastic panels or foam panels or glass panels.

3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

5. It is noted that rejoinder will be considered upon indication of allowable subject matter and the basis thereof.

6. A telephone call was made to Greg Carlin on 5/28/03 to request an oral election to the above restriction requirement, but did not result in an election being made.

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include an election of the invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143).

8. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
